

I wanted to take this class for fun because I wanted to sharpen my digital art skills. I make graphics as a hobby so I am already slightly proficient in photoshop and wanted to learn new techniques to this program along with a basic grasp on other programs.

As mentioned before I already have a proficient experience developing raster graphics so I was already most comfortable doing this final project. The subject is of my dog, Maxie, who previously passed away last April. What was my one big obstacle was deciding on an idea which I wished I'd settled on sooner.

Adobe Photoshop
Raster project

just keep swimmin'

Upon gathering into critique groups someone, upon seeing my project, immediately went "Oh is that like the shape of water?" which was the exact reaction I was going for! The hardest thing that I did was that I made my whole line art using the pen tool. What I should've done was use the brush tool to draw.

Adobe Illustrator
project

At first I wanted to animate my fishman from my Illustrator project but this time I wanted to dip my toe in a new endeavor. At first, I wanted to do something a bit more complicated but realized that would take too much time with the one week that I had. I used Illustrator to draw out Wonder Woman's two poses as well as the gun and bullets she deflects. I also learned that audio really sells it and if you time the motion tweens right with the sound, it can be very realistic.
